Media Information

Media Relations

The Media Relations Office is located on the fourth floor of Two Greenway Plaza, Suite 400, Houston, TX 77046.

Credentials

All requests for working press, photo and broadcast credentials for Houston Comets home games should be made in writing on company letterhead by an authorized sports editor or director at least two days prior to the game in question. Direct all requests to Bob Schranz, Comets Media Relations Manager, Houston Comets, Two Greenway Plaza, Suite 400, Houston, TX 77046. All credentials can be acquired at Compaq Center media entrance on Norfolk Street.

Interviews

All interview requests for the Houston Comets should be directed to Bob Schranz. The Comets coaching staff and players are available for interviews each practice day. On game days, players are generally available for 30 minutes beginning one hour-and-a-half before tip off; following games — after a 10-minute cooling off period — both coaches will be available in the post-game interview area. The locker rooms will then be opened for player interviews. Anyone wearing a media credential will not be allowed to obtain autographs.

Game Night

The media entrance is located on the Norfolk Street side of Compaq Center. The press door opens two hours prior to tip off. Press parking is in the W1 lot — directly across from the press door. Parking is for working media only with proper credentials.

Practices

Team practices may be closed with the exception of the last half-hour of which must be open to the media. Players and staff will be available for interviews during a designated access period, before or after practice.

Photographers

The photography areas in Compaq Center are on the baselines opposite both team benches. No photographers will be allowed on the sideline areas in front or behind the team benches or in front of press row. Please make all requests for strobe lighting to Bob Schranz at least 48 hours in advance of the game. In addition, please observe the WNBA rules for player escape routes — an open area approximately five feet on both sides of the basket. For player safety, we also ask that you do not leave your camera unattended in your working area. No tripods are permitted on the floor.

Statistical Services

Complete game statistics, including the final box score, running play-by-play and quotes will be provided — with running play-by-play and stats provided at halftime. For those sitting on press row, screens with the box score, percentages, notes and other data continuously updated are provided. A stat screen is provided in the auxiliary press area and in the pressroom as well. Scores of other games will also be made available. The Comets Media Relations Department will provide faxing service to all working media upon request.

Owner

Awarded Franchise: October 30, 1996

College: New York University '65

COMETS

On October 30, 1996, Houston Rockets Owner Leslie Alexander brought another professional basketball team to Houston — the WNBA's Houston Comets.

When the NBA Board of Governors decided to create the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA), Alexander saw an opportunity to bring a new and exciting brand of professional basketball to the fans of Houston. Alexander, who knew firsthand of the city's love for professional basketball, eagerly applied for the right to operate one of the league's eight charter franchises.

Houston was granted a franchise and immediately Alexander set out to build another championship team. He strongly believed that in the first year of play, exceptional leadership from the right coach could carry a team to a championship. After an exhaustive search, Alexander hired Head Coach Van Chancellor from the University of Mississippi. Alexander's formula worked to perfection as the Houston Comets set the standard in the WNBA by capturing the first four league titles.

"Women's basketball has been a great success in Houston because Houston is a great basketball city," Alexander said. "The fans love the Houston Comets and now the city can boast of four championships."

Chancellor, who was named WNBA Coach of the Year for three consecutive seasons (1997-99), knew that the Rockets organization was one with a dedication to winning.

"One of the main reasons I came to Houston was because of Leslie Alexander's commitment to winning," Chancellor said. "This is a first-rate organization, and I knew if I took this position, I would be a part of a winning franchise. Leslie and I talked about winning the first WNBA Championship when I was hired. I knew by his excitement and enthusiasm that he had a serious commitment. What a thrill it was to share that championship with such a great owner."

While Alexander's teams have been most successful on the basketball court, unique to the Rockets and Comets organization is its off-the-court commitment to the community. Building a better quality of life for Houstonians is the driving force of Alexander and the franchise.

"It's so important to me that the Houston Rockets and Comets find a way to thank the fans for their overwhelming devotion to our teams. One way we try to do that is by reaching out to help young people through our community programs and fundraising initiatives," Alexander said.

In 1995, Alexander established the Clutch City Foundation with the goal of providing help, hope and inspiration to those who might otherwise be forgotten. Through efforts of the Clutch City Foundation, Houston Rockets and Comets players, coaches and business team members are involved in a multitude of community service and charity fundraising programs. Eight years of active community involvement have resulted in over $5 million in donations to local charities and has allowed the Clutch City Foundation to impact tens of thousands of Houstonians each year.

On August 1, 2002, the Comets and Clutch City Foundation held the inaugural Houston Comets Charity Luncheon. Alexander's first-year event helped to raise $43,000 for renovation of a basketball court used in the Therapeutic Recreation Program at the DePelchin Children's Center.

When flooding from Tropical Storm Allison devastated the Houston area in June of 2001, the Houston Rockets and Comets helped to raise over $230,000 for flood relief by auctioning off hundreds of memorabilia items, including authentic rings from each of the organization's six championships. In addition to donating all of the memorabilia for the auction as well as the funds raised, Alexander and the NBA & WNBA gave $150,000 to the flood relief effort.

In the spring of 1999, Alexander turned the attentions of the Clutch City Foundation to addressing a need very near and dear to Comets fans — Kim's Place. In honor of the late Comets point guard, Kim Perrot, and her battle with cancer, Kim's Place will provide children with life-threatening illnesses a place to relax and play between treatments with others who share their unique challenges. The proceeds from the Clutch City Foundation's premier fundraiser, the annual Tux & Tennessees Charity Gala, held in April of 1999, were donated as the initial gift for building Kim's Place. Since then, countless Comets fans and Kim Perrot fans from around the world have contributed to the Kim's Place fund.

The Clutch City Foundation funds and operates comprehensive programs benefiting thousands of children each year. In 1998, Alexander's organization was awarded the Leadership Houston "Leadership in Action" Award for outstanding community service to education, one year after winning the same award for outstanding community service to youth.

In 1997, Alexander and the Rockets were honored with the Pro Team Community Award, given by the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame. This award recognizes one professional team each year that exemplifies community service and acts as a catalyst for community pride and spirit. In accepting the award, Alexander said, "The Rockets are honored to represent our great fans in bringing this special recognition to our community. It is our privilege and responsibility to help make a difference in the lives of Houstonians in need."

Through the Clutch City Foundation, Alexander and the Houston Rockets and Comets organization will continue to make a difference in the lives of Houstonians for years to come.

Comets Executive Staff

George Postolos
President & Chief Executive Officer

George Postolos is in his fifth season with the Houston Rockets and Comets, and his first as President & Chief Executive Officer. Postolos, who joined the organization in October 1998 as Chief Operating Officer, oversees all facets of the organization's business operations.

Since his arrival to Houston, Postolos has worked diligently to further the organization's mission to be one of the league's elite teams on and off the court. In four years, he has provided direction on all business decisions and enhanced the relationships the team enjoys with the community.

Postolos has been instrumental in the organization's efforts to streamline the business operations in order to improve efficiency and customer service. One of Postolos' first initiatives with the Rockets was "Project Call All," an organization-wide effort to personally call each season ticket holder to welcome them back for the start of the new season. For one entire day, staff members called every season ticket holder in an effort to renew and further develop relationships with key stakeholders in the organization.

Postolos' commitment to building on the organization's successes has included an intense focus on community service and charitable giving. In July 2000, the Rockets and Comets organization made a donation of $1.25 million to establish Kim's Place – a special place for adolescents battling cancer – in honor of the late Comets guard Kim Perrot. Through the donation, the organization established a partnership with The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center that will impact the lives of young people in need while allowing the Rockets and Comets as well as their supporters to continue their tradition of giving back to the community. The seven-figure gift was the second-largest single donation ever made by an NBA team.

On a day-to-day basis, Postolos serves as the leader of the organization's senior executive committee, which sets strategic goals and analyzes future growth opportunities for the enterprise. He also supervises each of the organization's business units, including broadcasting, business development, community relations, corporate development, finance and administration, legal, marketing, media relations, as well as ticket sales and services. Postolos also works closely with team Owner Leslie Alexander in pursuing new sports properties and other business opportunities.

Much of Postolos' efforts during the last four years revolved around negotiating and organizing support for a new arena for the city. In November 2000, Harris County voters approved a referendum to build a new home for the Rockets and Comets. Groundbreaking for the arena took place on July 31, 2001, in downtown Houston. The new arena will open in September of 2003.

Postolos arrived in Houston after a two-year stint as Special Assistant to NBA Commissioner David Stern. It was during his time working for Stern that Postolos made an impression on Alexander. When Alexander began looking for a new face to head his sports enterprise, Postolos, with his knowledge of the NBA and Texas ties, was an obvious choice.

Raised in San Antonio, Postolos worked as a teenager for his hometown San Antonio Spurs, which were owned by family friend Angelo Drossos. He left Texas after high school to pursue both undergraduate and law school degrees at Harvard, then clerked for a judge on the Texas Supreme Court before joining the New York law firm of Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz.

Postolos resides in Houston with his wife, Nicole, and their seven-year-old son and infant daughter.

Comets Executive Staff

As a member of the organization's senior executive committee, Brown works closely in developing future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

During his tenure at Streetball, he developed relationships with several prominent clients, including Gatorade, Southwest Airlines, Anheuser-Busch, Nike, Spalding, Foot Locker, Toyota and MasterCard. Brown managed all sales, sponsor service, licensing and new business initiatives for Streetball. He saw Streetball grow from a staff of 10 to over 250 employees during his tenure.

Brown is a graduate of Colgate University, where he was a four-year starter and three-year captain of the varsity basketball team. He and his wife, Janice, have four daughters, Kennedy, Addison, Nicolette and Chloe.

David Carlock joined the Rockets and Comets in January 2001 as Vice President of Business Development. His responsibilities include the design, development and launch of the new multi-purpose arena that will be home to the Rockets and Comets beginning in the fall of 2003. Carlock is also a member of the senior executive committee, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the organization.

Before coming to the Rockets and Comets, Carlock served as the Chief Operating Officer of Zooba.com, an on-line direct marketing company acquired in December 2000 by a division of Bertelsmann AG.

Carlock's first work with the National Basketball Association came during his tenure as the Vice President of NBA City, a restaurant developed by the NBA and Hard Rock Cafe International. Prior to NBA City, Carlock worked as a Senior Analyst in The Walt Disney Company's Corporate Strategic Planning Department. In addition to extensive work on resort and theme park projects, he played a key role in the development of the ESPNZone sports bar and restaurant concept.

Carlock lives in Houston with his wife, Laura, and is a native of Weston, Massachusetts.

In addition, she assists the basketball operations staff with the management of legal issues relating to the team. She is also a member of the organization's senior executive committee.

Prior to joining the Rockets organization, she worked as an associate in the Houston office of Vinson & Elkins, L.L.P., where she handled mergers, acquisitions, and other business transactions for clients primarily in the healthcare industry. She began her legal career with Alston & Bird, L.L.P. in Atlanta, Georgia.

Humphries graduated Magna Cum Laude with Phi Beta Kappa honors from Duke University in 1993 and graduated Cum Laude from Harvard Law School in 1996. She and her husband, Scott, reside in Houston with son, Jackson Ryan.

Comets Executive Staff

Marcus Jolibois
Chief Financial Officer

Marcus Jolibois is in his ninth season as the Chief Financial Officer for the Houston Rockets. Jolibois oversees all accounting, financial and administrative operations for the Rockets and Comets.

He is also responsible for the financial and administrative operations of the Clutch City Foundation, the non-profit charitable foundation established by team owner Leslie Alexander. Jolibois also oversees the development and maintenance of the organizational data and information systems. He is also a member of the Rockets and Comets senior executive committee, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

Jolibois, a 1981 graduate of Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington, joined the Rockets staff on November 15, 1994, after working for eight years at Levitz, Zacks and Ciceric in San Diego, California. He served as the audit manager for the firm from 1986-94.

Prior to his time with Levitz, Zacks and Ciceric, Jolibois worked for two years as an operational and financial auditor for a Fortune 50 Company in San Diego. From 1981-84, he began his accounting career with Peterson, Sullivan, and Co. in Seattle.

Jolibois, a native of Tacoma, Washington, and his wife, Diane, live in The Woodlands with their four sons, Andrew, Connor, Scott and Luke.

Tim McDougall
Vice President of Marketing

Tim McDougall is in his second season as Vice President of Marketing with the Houston Rockets and Comets. McDougall's duties include supervising marketing and promotions, media relations, broadcasting and community relations. He is also a member of the Rockets and Comets senior executive committee, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the organization.

Prior to joining the Rockets and Comets, McDougall worked for seven years in brand management for Miller Brewing Company. WNBA in the Community

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the seventh season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the WNBA's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two main components – Healthy/Fit Families and Positive Self-Image and Breast Health Awareness. The WNBA tipped off the Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign at NBA 2003 All-Star in Atlanta with the WNBA Nothing But N.E.T. Challenge, which consisted of several challenges designed to educate and inform kids about the value of being active, eating well and developing a healthy and fit lifestyle.

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on increasing public awareness about the importance of early detection of breast cancer and on raising funds to inform and educate women all over the country. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. Beginning in July, fans can also log onto WNBA.com to bid on their favorite item featured in the Breast Health Awareness Auction. All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and WNBA autographed items, will benefit the WNBA's Breast Health Awareness partner.

Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA Presented by Gatorade and Nike

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, presented by Gatorade and Nike, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years-old) are 2002-2003 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. Additionally, 100,000 coaches and 500,000 players and their parents receive program support and materials. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country.

WNBA Read to Achieve

WNBA Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. Supported by Reading Is Fundamental and Scholastic, Inc., WNBA Read to Achieve promotes reading through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year. WNBA players, coaches and family members also join members of the NBA family on local and national All-Star Reading Teams.

Haley & Team NRG

Haley

Famous for her long, flowing silver hair, boggled eyes and huggable plush blue fur, Haley is the young alien mascot of the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets. Her most remarkable trait is her two-foot long nose, which is always getting her into trouble – nosing it around fans and serving as the goal for a ring toss competition.

With a shoe size of 30HH and a 50-inch waistline, Haley prances around the arena spraying fans with silly string and making people laugh. Her unique strut, combined with her zany sense of humor, is enjoyed both on and off the court. Haley is heralded throughout the WNBA as a favorite among fans.

Haley, who landed in Houston on June 21, 1997, has snuggled her way into the seats at Compaq Center as well as into the hearts of Comets fans everywhere. She considers herself the largest and most loved fan of the Houston Comets.

Team NRG

The Comets Team NRG squad is considered one of the most exciting dance teams in the WNBA. This coed group of spirited and enthusiastic dancers lead Comets fans in cheering for the home team. Explosive tumbling as well as creative high-energy dance routines are performed during home games for the enjoyment of Comets fans of all ages.

Team NRG brings exciting and fun entertainment to the in-arena experience of a Houston Comets game. As the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Team NRG always gives a great performance on the court, while the talented performers celebrate and energize the game action. Ranging from pop to funk, Team NRG plays it loud and makes Compaq Center shake, rattle and roll.

The 2003 season will be the seventh Team NRG squad to perform at Comets games. Also known for their many appearances throughout the city of Houston, Team NRG is known for giving performances that make fans stand up and cheer.

Houston's New Arena

The future home of the Houston Rockets and Comets is coming. Construction is in full gear for a new state-of-the-art arena in downtown Houston that will provide fans with a world class environment for Houston Rockets and Comets basketball action. Designed for unequalled sports entertainment with maximum spectator comfort and convenience, the 775,000 square foot, $202 million facility is scheduled to open its doors this September.

Fans will have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to share in the excitement of the Houston Arena's inaugural season as the Houston Rockets start the 2003-2004 NBA season in their new downtown home. Destined to become one of the country's finest and most spectacular sports venues, the Arena is actually a combination of the most outstanding amenities found in new, recently completed sports and entertainment venues.

"This new facility will serve as a source of civic pride for the city—and give Houstonians something to be proud of for many years to come"

LESLIE ALEXANDER, Rockets and Comets Owner.

The main entrance of the new arena, located at 1510 Polk Street in downtown Houston, will face the northwest corner of the site, at the intersection of Polk and LaBranch streets.

Excavation of more than 315,000 cubic yards of dirt will be necessary to accommodate the construction of the arena's lower seating bowl—it will be the largest excavation in downtown Houston.

More than 7,000 parking spaces will be available within a three-block radius of the new downtown arena.

By visiting and studying more than 10 sports entertainment facilities throughout the nation, selecting their most successful elements and combining those features together in one design, the Houston Rockets have created a premier, user-friendly facility highlighted with many exceptional amenities.

PRIME LOCATION

Located at 1510 Polk Street, the new Arena will serve as the southeast anchor of the city's downtown entertainment corridor. Situated on four city blocks adjacent to the intersection of Crawford and Clay streets, the Arena will be convenient to restaurants, hotels, shopping, nightspots, and the nearby downtown Theatre District.

CONVENIENT PARKING

A seven-level parking garage located immediately south of the Arena will provide covered parking for 2,500 patrons. The building will be connected through a state-of-the-art skybridge through Bell Street. Including spaces provided in the adjoining garage, more than 7,000 parking spaces will be available within a three-block radius of the Arena, making it one of the most convenient and easily accessible sports and entertainment venues in the city.

LOWER BOWL SEATING

Aimed at maximizing the view of the playing court for as many fans as possible, the Houston Rockets' chose to incorporate a lower seating bowl of exceptional proportion. Featuring one of the largest lower seating bowl areas of any arena in the country, the Rockets new home will provide premium sight lines while bringing fans closer than ever to game action.

Approximately 40 rows of seats will fill the lower seating bowl and encompass the playing court slated to be positioned 32 feet below ground level. The unique placement of the playing court coupled with a well planned seating arrangement is sure to create a comfortable atmosphere for sports viewing.

With lower bowl seating that can be accessed through an open concourse and rear entryway from the top, leading downward toward the playing court, the Arena is both accessible and inviting.

Pedestrians will also find the added convenience of street-level entry to the Arena's restaurants and retail venues particularly appealing.

CLUB SEATING

Exceptional views like those available in the new Arena can only be enhanced with comfortable seating opportunities. Twenty-eight hundred theater-style club seats, wider than any other major sports venue in Houston, will be featured on the Arena's east and west sides. Fully upholstered with an extra high back and individual cup holder, these club seats can provide optimum comfort along with an exceptional view.

LUXURY SUITES

Eighty luxury suites located on two levels of the Arena will offer private, panoramic views of the playing court. The spacious suites, well-appointed with amenities, will be ideal for private entertaining, with fixed seating for 12 and the option to purchase additional tickets.

"It will feature the most advanced accommodations available in any arena in the nation"

GEORGE POSTOLOS, Rockets and Comets President and Chief Executive Officer

Estimated seating capacity for the Houston Rockets new home will include 18,500 for basketball and 19,300 for concerts, depending on seat configuration.

Twelve courtside suites are also planned for the Arena's lower level. Situated near the player locker rooms, directly beneath lower bowl seating, the extra large courtside suites will open directly into a shared lounge, highlighted with wet bars and closed-circuit televisions. Courtside suite plans also call for 10 of the very best club seats. Fans who enjoy being near backstage action, along with exclusive, direct access to center court club seats, will find the courtside suites most interesting.

FINE DINING — VIP Restaurant

The perfect companion to premium sports entertainment, upscale contemporary American cuisine, will be offered in the Arena's VIP restaurant. Patrons can savor a fabulous meal and make a selection from a world-class wine list, while enjoying a spectacular view. The 170 seat restaurant, featuring sophisticated, white tablecloth dining is sure to become one of Houston's acclaimed dining spots.

On the building's exterior, the Rockets have designed an architectural structure to display a simple, yet sophisticated design that will no doubt play a major role in the landscape of downtown Houston. Fans approaching the Arena will find a very inviting design boasting a light, airy entrance that allows great visibility of interior activities with spectacular glass entries.

The atmosphere of the new facility is made even more inviting by its timeless and yet functional design. The roof of the new Arena, engineered to "float" above the building, will create a halo effect during the day. During evening hours, special lighting on the shallow dome roof will create a brilliant shimmering effect, singling the Arena out as the newest landmark in the dynamic Houston skyline.

Proud to be the power behind the Comets

WNBA History

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next!" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman — the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes — the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper — the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets — the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie — the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "to-do list." With less than 15 months to tiptoe, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows:

On the Air . . .

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen to carry WNBA games beginning in 2003.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2002, with WNBA content broadcast to 178 countries in 24 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

The Players and the Teams . . .

The first of the player signings was announced on October 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bolton, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player) and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

WNBA History

On April 29, 1999, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced the league's first collective bargaining agreement – a first of its kind in women's team sports. By 2002, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle in 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On January 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Sun becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history. With 14 teams in place for the 2003 season, the WNBA was set to enter its seventh season as the leading women's professional basketball league in the world.

The WNBA Draft . . .

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001.

The Logos and the Uniforms . . .

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo – "Logo Woman" – was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms — two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

It's a Ball Game . . .

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 19-foot, 9-inch three-point line, two 20-minute halves, eleven-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

Millions of Fans Join In . . .

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season.

WNBA History

Fans Get Connected . . .

In addition to television, the league website, WNBA.com, is an important tool in reaching fans. The single most authoritative source of information for the league, offers WNBA fans around the world late-breaking league news, real-time scores, statistics and shot charts, as well as complete behind-the-scenes access, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders, and exclusive Web-based shows and programs.

In the Community . . .

For the WNBA, the focus has been three primary outreach initiatives: Read to Achieve, a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children; the Breast Health Awareness program, an initiative designed to draw national attention to the issue of breast cancer and the importance of early detection; and the Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues that connects players, parents and coaches in an effort to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. In 2003, the WNBA will debut its Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign, which encompasses the Breast Health Awareness program but also focuses on Nutrition, Exercise and Positive Self-Image, designed to educate and inform women and their families on the value of being active and eating well in order to feel better, have energy and develop a good healthy lifestyle.

League Showcases All-Stars . . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars – led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie – defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61 before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on Monday, July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 in front of a crowd of 19,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time. ESPN televised the game live for the fourth consecutive year.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game will mark its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on Saturday, July 12. The event will be held on the weekend for the first time and make its network television debut on ABC.

We Got Game . . .

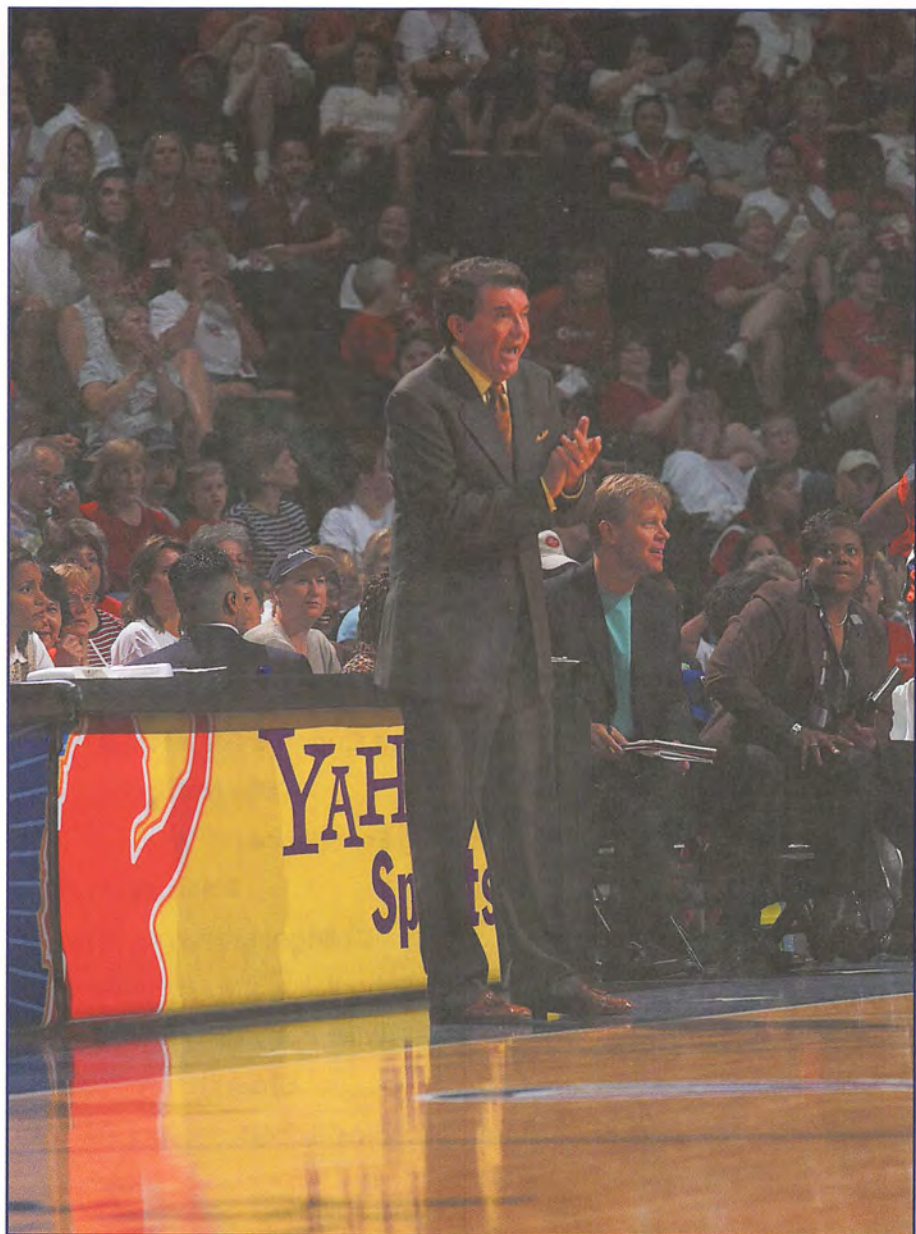

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA and its history, log onto www.wnba.com.

VAN CHANCELLOR

Head Coach & General Manager

Date Named: 4/29/97

Coaching Experience: 7th WNBA Season

Birthdate: 9/27/43

College: Mississippi State '65

High School: Louisville (Louisville, MS)

Wife: Betty (married 40 years)

Children: John, Renee

Grandchildren: Nicholas, Jacob, Joseph, Zachary

it's a beautiful thing.

Since being named Head Coach and General Manager of the WNBA's Houston franchise on April 29, 1997, Van Chancellor has continued to raise the standard of excellence within the arena of women's basketball. His efforts are evident by both his record and the accomplishments of his individual players. Entering his seventh season with the Comets, Chancellor ranks as the winningest coach in WNBA history with a 141-45 (.758) regular-season mark and a 17-7 (.708) record in the playoffs. Chancellor's Comets seized the first four WNBA Championships and stand as the only team in the league to have qualified for the playoffs in each of the past six seasons.

Chancellor, who is the only head coach in the WNBA to have been with his original team since the league's inception in 1997, has received many accolades as head coach. He earned WNBA Coach of the Year honors three consecutive seasons (1997-1999) and was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team three straight years (1999-2001). Chancellor's exceptional collegiate and professional coaching career was recognized with induction into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame on June 9, 2001. He was also inducted into the Ole Miss M-Club Athletic Hall of Fame on August 31, 2002.

In 2002, Chancellor guided the Comets to a 24-8 record and a sixth journey to the playoffs. The Comets also won a franchise-best 13 consecutive home games (May 29-Aug. 6) and finished with the WNBA's best home record (14-2). In addition, Houston's stifling defense ranked first in the league in points allowed per game (59.1) and opponent field goal percentage (.375). Sheryl Swoopes returned to action, and for the second time in her career, captured both the WNBA Most Valuable Player and Defensive Player of the Year awards in the same season.

Despite the loss of Swoopes to a season-ending knee injury and the retirement of Cynthia Cooper, Chancellor led his team to a 19-13 mark in 2001 and a fifth-consecutive trip to the playoffs. In addition, Janeth Arcain earned the WNBA Most Improved Player award and Tina Thompson became just the fifth player in WNBA history to record 2,000 points.

During the 2000 season, Chancellor and the Comets won their fourth consecutive WNBA Championship and became the only professional sports franchise in the United States in the past decade to win four straight titles. The Comets concluded the regular season with a 27-5 record and a perfect 6-0 mark in the playoffs. Individual honors went to Swoopes, who won her first-ever WNBA Most Valuable Player award and was named as the league's Defensive Player of the Year. Cooper was also named MVP of the WNBA Championship series for the fourth-consecutive time.

Chancellor and his team spent the 1999 season on an emotional roller coaster. In February, the team's starting point guard, Kim Perrot, was diagnosed with cancer and began a difficult battle with the disease that ended on August 19 at age 32. Despite the tragic loss of a friend, Chancellor helped guide the team to a 26-6 regular-season record and a third WNBA Championship.

In 1998, the Comets set numerous league records en route to a decisive 27-3 finish and a second WNBA title. The team's .900 winning percentage in the regular season is the best finish in the history of professional basketball, men or women. Houston also recorded 15 consecutive wins between June 27 and July 30, which is the longest streak in team history. Individual honors followed the team's success, as Cooper captured her second straight WNBA Most Valuable Player award.

Following the season, Chancellor coached the 1998 WNBA Touring Team, a squad of elite WNBA players who competed against the best teams in Brazil.

In his first year with the Comets, Chancellor led the team to an 18-10 mark, the best record in the league, and his first of three consecutive conference titles. The inaugural season was one of unpredictability for Chancellor as Houston's franchise player, Swoopes, was on the sidelines expecting her first child. Left with a lineup of players that included Cooper, first-round draft pick Thompson and Brazilian phenomenon Arcain, Chancellor used his coaching skills and positive outlook to help produce a championship team.

In addition to his coaching experience in the WNBA, Chancellor guided the 2002 USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a perfect 9-0 record and the gold medal at the 14th FIBA World Championship for Women held in the People's Republic of China (Sept. 14-25). Named to his position on November 8, 2001, Chancellor's USA squad defeated Russia, 79-74, for the United States' seventh gold medal in World Championship play. Chancellor also led the USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a 4-0 mark and the 2002 Opals World Challenge title in pre-tournament action. His work with the team earned Chancellor the honor of USA Basketball 2002 National Coach of the Year and his Women's World Championship Team was named 2002 USA Basketball Team of the Year.

Before joining the professional ranks, Chancellor spent 19 successful seasons as the head coach of the University of Mississippi Lady Rebels. Under his guidance, the Lady Rebels posted a winning percentage of .740 (439-154), made 14 NCAA Tournament appearances and became recognized as one of the premier women's basketball programs in the nation. As a collegiate coach, Chancellor ranks 14th in all-time winning percentage amongst women's basketball coaches. Chancellor, who was named SEC Coach of the Year on three occasions (1987, 1990, 1992), never had a losing overall record at Ole Miss despite competing in one of the toughest conferences in the nation. In addition, his 1991-92 team won the program's first-ever SEC regular-season championship.

Chancellor played two years of basketball at East Central Junior College in Decatur, MS. Chancellor later transferred to Mississippi State, where he earned a bachelor's degree in math and physical education in 1965. He also entered the coaching ranks during his senior year at Mississippi State, serving as head coach of the boy's basketball team at Noxapater High School. Chancellor went on to coach boy's and girl's basketball at Horn Lake High School and at Harrison Central High School in Mississippi. Chancellor received his master's degree in physical education from the University of Mississippi in 1973.

Born September 27, 1943, in Louisville, Mississippi, Chancellor and his wife, Betty, live in Houston and have two children, John and Renee, and four grandsons, Nicholas (5), Jacob (4), Joseph (2) and Zachary (2). A book published in the fall of 1999, "Nothin' But a Champion," chronicles Chancellor's life from his childhood in Mississippi through his third WNBA Championship with the Comets. During the offseason, Chancellor does motivational speaking and serves as a television color analyst for SEC women's basketball. He has also done color commentary for women's college basketball on ESPN/ESPN2 as well as during the network's coverage of the 2003 Women's NCAA Basketball Tournament. Chancellor's other visits behind the microphone include color analysis for several radio broadcasts for University of Houston Lady Cougars basketball and as a substitute for Calvin Murphy on a pair of television broadcasts for the Houston Rockets.

Executive Vice President of Basketball

Carroll Dawson is in his 24th year with the Houston Rockets organization and seventh as the Executive Vice President of Basketball for the Houston Comets.

Prior to the inaugural 1997 WNBA season, Dawson was commissioned by Owner Leslie Alexander to help assemble the first Houston Comets team. He guided the efforts to bring Sheryl Swoopes and Cynthia Cooper to Houston and then drafted Wanda Guyton and Janeth Arcain in the WNBA Elite Draft. Dawson was also instrumental in the selection of Tina Thompson with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Finally, he worked with Alexander to hire three-time WNBA Coach of the Year Van Chancellor. Currently, Dawson is Chancellor's top advisor on all basketball matters.

Dawson, who also serves as General Manager for the Houston Rockets, joined the organization in 1980. Prior to assuming his current position, Dawson worked as an assistant coach under the last four Rockets head coaches (Del Harris 1980-83, Bill Fitch 1983-88, Don Chaney 1988-92 and Rudy Tomjanovich 1992-96).

Affectionately known as "CD," Dawson is the only person to be on the four coaching staffs that have led the Rockets to their NBA Finals appearances (1981, 1986, 1994 and 1995). Dawson continues to work closely with Head Coach Rudy Tomjanovich in his current front office capacity.

Along with Tomjanovich, Dawson oversees all player personnel activity for the Rockets. Dawson's duties include managing the entire scouting department, which analyzes and evaluates athletes at both the amateur and professional level. Dawson also deals with free agency issues, trade inquiries and is responsible for assessing the team's needs.

Dawson is recognized as one of the top executives in the NBA. Since taking over the Rockets front office job in 1996, he has not only strengthened an experienced Rockets team, but has also spearheaded the Rockets youth movement. Over the last five offseasons, the Rockets have acquired such young talents as Steve Francis, Eddie Griffin, Cuttino Mobley and Yao Ming.

Dawson is known throughout the NBA for his work with frontcourt players and has also been credited with teaching Hakeem Olajuwon his infamous jump hook. Dawson has worked with and coached many NBA All-Stars throughout his years with the Rockets, including Charles Barkley, Elvin Hayes, Moses Malone, Ralph Sampson and Tomjanovich.

A native Texan, Dawson hails from Alba, population 200, about 75 miles east of Dallas. As a 6-foot-5 high school center, he led Alba High School to a 44-3 record as a senior. He then went on to win Junior College All-America honors at Paris Junior College (Texas) under Head Coach Boyd Converse. After two seasons at Paris, Dawson moved on to Baylor University, where he led Bill Henderson's Baylor Bears in scoring and rebounding in each of his two seasons. In 1960, he averaged 16.4 points as a senior to earn All-Southwest Conference honors.

In 1963, he returned to Baylor as an assistant to Head Coach Bill Menefee. He later succeeded Menefee as head coach in 1973, remaining in that position for more than three seasons. After spending two years as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys at the call of executive Gil Brandt, Dawson started a career as a salesman for Converse Shoe Company.

Dawson has been honored with induction into the Paris Junior College Hall of Fame in 1991, the Baylor University Hall of Fame in 1998, and the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2001.

One of the top golfers in the basketball profession, Dawson resides in Houston with his wife, Sharon.

In addition to three titles with the Comets, Scott has also served as an assistant coach for the WNBA Western Conference All-Star Team on three occasions (1999, 2000, 2001). She originally joined the Comets staff after replacing Peggie Gillom, who was named head coach at Texas A&M University midway through the 1998 season.

Prior to joining the WNBA, Scott spent six seasons as an assistant coach at Old Dominion University. During Scott's tenure at ODU, the Lady Monarchs captured six straight Colonial Athletic Association titles and made six trips to the NCAA Tournament, including four Sweet 16 appearances, one Elite Eight and one Final Four. She joined the ODU staff after one season as an assistant at Maryland, helping the Lady Terrapins to an Elite Eight finish. Scott began her coaching career at her alma mater as a restricted earnings assistant on Chancellor's staff for one season while completing her undergraduate degree.

On the court, the former Lady Rebels standout played professional basketball in Italy for three years and was a member of three USA Basketball teams, including the silver-medal-winning 1985 USA World University Games Team and the gold-medal-winning 1987 Pan American Games Team.

Scott played college basketball at the University of Mississippi under Chancellor and finished her career in the top ten in several categories, ranking sixth on the Lady Rebels' all-time list for points (1,488), fifth in blocked shots (64) and second in steals (329). She earned several honors and awards, including Kodak All-District honors and First-Team All-Southeastern Conference accolades. In 2001, Scott was honored by the Mississippi Legislature with an official resolution commending her outstanding achievements.

Kevin Cook
Assistant Coach

Kevin Cook enters his seventh year with the Houston Comets after joining the team at the start of the 1997 season. Cook and Comets Head Coach Van Chancellor are the only two coaches in the WNBA who have been with their original team since the league's inception seven years ago.

Cook, who works with Houston's perimeter players, has also served as an assistant coach for the Western Conference All-Star Team at the 1999, 2000 and 2001 WNBA All-Star Games. During the offseason, Cook serves as head coach of the Houston Jaguars AAU, a team comprised of WNBA players and college graduates who compete on a collegiate tour each November. His 2002 Jaguars team finished 10-1, including wins over the University of Connecticut and Rutgers.

Prior to joining the Comets, Cook gained 12 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level. As the top women's basketball assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Houston, Cook's primary focus was on the Lady Cougars frontcourt. Most of Cook's coaching knowledge came under the tutelage of long-time mentor Marian Washington. Cook served as Washington's assistant women's coach at the University of Kansas from 1984-93, helping lead the Jayhawks to three Big Eight titles. Several of Kansas' rookie classes were ranked among the top in the nation, largely due to Cook's recruiting efforts.

Cook began his coaching career during his senior year of college at Urbana University, serving as an assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach. He also filled the role of sports information director during that time. In 1982, he founded the city of Urbana's Amateur Athletic Union, coaching the men's and women's youth teams during the summers of 1982 and 1983. Your Fur Coat Could Save an Animal's Life

Please join me, Liza Minnelli, Mary Tyler Moore, Lauren Bacall, and others who have had a change of heart about wearing fur. Give your fur a new lease on life. Donate your coat to PETA, where it will be used in educational displays and anti-fur fashion shows. All donations are tax-deductible.

#10 Retired Number

#10 Kim Perrot

January 18, 1967 – August 19, 1999

Comets Career: Guard (1997-1998)

Hometown: Lafayette, LA

High School: Acadiana High School (Lafayette, LA)

College: Southwestern Louisiana '90

"My life has a plan, and this is just another chapter. It all revolves around the same thing – struggles I've had – and how throughout those struggles I've always won the battle. This is another battle. It's just a bigger battle. I will still tell my story."

Kim Perrot, March 17, 1999, one month after being diagnosed with cancer.

On August 19, 1999, surrounded by her family and friends, Comets point guard Kim Perrot peacefully passed away after a seven-month battle with cancer. In honor of the team's fiery point guard, who helped lead the Houston Comets to their first two WNBA Championships, the team retired the #10 jersey on July 29, 2000. It was the first player's jersey ever retired in WNBA history.

Standing at just 5'5", Kim Perrot exuded confidence and athleticism. On the court, she was fast and furious, never relenting on defense and always in the face of the opponent. Off the court, Kim became the tiny spark that caught fire and kept the team burning with passion and intensity.

Kim Perrot always had the heart and drive to succeed in anything she tried. As the point guard for the back-to-back WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Kim made a name for herself as a great basketball player, a wonderful person, and a courageous fighter.

Kim, a Louisiana native and the youngest of six children, was told all her life that she was too small to play basketball. Kim refused to listen and vowed to prove her doubters wrong. She played four seasons at Southwest Louisiana, where she set 26 school records and recorded the NCAA's second-highest scoring performance in a single game with 58 points against Southeastern Louisiana. Kim also won two USA Basketball Championships (1989, 1990), and was voted Honorable Mention All-America and Player of the Year (1989-90 season) for her conference.

Kim played for four teams overseas before trying out for the Comets. She was playing in Europe when she learned that the WNBA's inaugural season would start in the summer of 1997. Kim came to Houston determined to find a way to get into the tryouts. After persistently calling the Comets coaching staff, she was invited to join 55 other players to try out for only two roster spots. Kim showed her fire and determination and won over Head Coach Van Chancellor for a spot on the Houston roster. Not willing to simply be a player at the end of the bench, Kim worked her way up to starting point guard. Providing a crucial spark for the Comets with her positive energy, fearlessness and relentless floor leadership, Kim was the catalyst that propelled the team to back-to-back WNBA Championships.

What made Kim Perrot a woman of exceptional character was her ability to overcome personal adversity and, all the while, focus on the needs of people around her who are facing similar challenges. Kim's ongoing commitment to encouraging and motivating young people to succeed had an enormously positive affect on children throughout the city. Her success in life was a direct result of her character and the principles that defined her – faith, determination and hard work. Kim's positive outlook, in the face of adversity, continues to provide inspiration and motivation for each of us to succeed against all odds.

Kim is survived by her mother Consuella Perrot, brothers Craig and Kevin Perrot, sister Loretta and brother-in-law Aaron Williams, aunt Joycelyn Boze and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her sister Lynette Perrot and brother Keith Perrot.

"She had such joy in her life. There will never be another Kim Perrot."

Van Chancellor, Head Coach and General Manager of the Houston Comets and Kim's favorite dominos partner.
